<th>Scoring Criteria</th>
<th>Rationale for Score</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2-D/3-D/Drawing Art and Design Skills</td>
<td>All the works exhibit advanced drawing skills. In the two portraits, the figure/ground relationships are integrated through the symbolism of color, text, and placement. The mark-making demonstrates a sensitivity to the subjects while conveying memories and personal meaning relevant to the student. In work 2, the image is drawn on paper that has been hand deckled, a metaphor expressing the connection of human touch represented in the visual and written evidence, “recreated fingerprints on letters Zambians gave me.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Materials, Processes, and Ideas</td>
<td>The student has worked with several drawing materials, both common and experimental. Complementary colors in work 1, “show the disjointed emotional and physical turmoil that many of these children experience.” In work 3, text from “T-shirts from Zambian summer camp,” is transferred onto the drawing surface to “show how various experiences merged together to form the beginnings of an identity and give purpose.” Synthesis of materials, processes, and ideas are evident in both the written and visual evidence.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing</td>
<td>The written evidence is very informative, and it gives the viewer factual information about materials, processes, and ideas while identifying personal connections to the ideas presented.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Visual evidence of advanced 2-D/3-D/Drawing skills.

Visual relationships among materials, processes, and ideas are clearly evident and demonstrate synthesis.

Written evidence identifies materials, processes, and ideas.
