In the nineteenth and most of the twentieth centuries, handwriting instruction (print and cursive) was virtually universal in schools in the United States. By contrast, little if any time is devoted to such lessons today. While some argue that handwriting instruction should still have a place in schooling, others maintain that digital technologies have rendered such instruction unnecessary.

Carefully read the following six sources, including the introductory information for each source. Write an essay that synthesizes material from at least three of the sources and develops your position on the place, if any, of handwriting instruction in today’s schools.

Source A (Gillis)
Source B (worksheet)
Source C (Trubek)
Source D (Kysilko)
Source E (Pot)
Source F (graph)

In your response you should do the following:

• Respond to the prompt with a thesis that presents a defensible position.

• Select and use evidence from at least three of the provided sources to support your line of reasoning. Indicate clearly the sources used through direct quotation, paraphrase, or summary. Sources may be cited as Source A, Source B, etc., or by using the description in parentheses.

• Explain how the evidence supports your line of reasoning.

• Use appropriate grammar and punctuation in communicating your argument.

Decision Rules and Scoring Notes

Responses that do not earn this point:
- Only restate the prompt.
- Do not take a position, or the position is vague or must be inferred.
- Equivocate or summarize others’ arguments but not the student’s (e.g., some people say it’s good, some people say it’s bad).
- State an obvious fact rather than making a claim that requires a defense.

Examples that do not earn this point:
- Restate the prompt
  - “Some people think that handwriting should still be taught in schools today, but others think that it’s not necessary anymore because everything is digital.”
- Address the topic of the prompt, but do not take a position
  - “Kids no longer learn handwriting in school, and there are several reasons why that’s the case.”
- Address the topic of the prompt but state an obvious fact as a claim
  - “As opposed to previous centuries, nowadays handwriting is not really taught in schools anymore.”

Responses that earn this point:
- Respond to the prompt by developing a position on handwriting instruction in today’s schools, rather than restating or rephrasing the prompt. Clearly take a position rather than just stating there are pros/cons.

Examples that earn this point:
- Present a defensible position that responds to the prompt
  - “Even though it may seem old-fashioned, handwriting should still be taught in schools today.”
  - “While it makes sense for students to learn keyboarding and other skills that will prepare them for a digital world, handwriting instruction still holds a place in a modern child’s education.”
  - “Given the fact that most kids learn on computers and tablets nowadays, it makes no sense for them to spend time learning an obsolete skill such as cursive handwriting, although they still will need to learn how to print.”

Additional Notes:
- The thesis may be more than one sentence, provided the sentences are in close proximity.
- The thesis may be anywhere within the response.
- For a thesis to be defensible, the sources must include at least minimal evidence that could be used to support that thesis; however, the student need not cite that evidence to earn the thesis point.
- The thesis may establish a line of reasoning that structures the essay, but it needn’t do so to earn the thesis point.
- A thesis that meets the criteria can be awarded the point whether or not the rest of the response successfully supports that line of reasoning.

Decision Rules and Scoring Notes

Responses that do not earn this point:
- Attempt to contextualize their argument, but such attempts consist predominantly of sweeping generalizations ("In a world where..." OR "Since the beginning of time...").
- Only hint at or suggest other arguments ("While some may argue that..." OR "Some people say...").
- Use complicated or complex sentences or language that is ineffective because it does not enhance the argument.

Responses that earn this point may demonstrate sophistication of thought and/or a complex understanding of the rhetorical situation by doing any of the following:
1. Crafting a nuanced argument by consistently identifying and exploring complexities or tensions across the sources.
2. Articulating the implications or limitations of an argument (either the student’s argument or arguments conveyed in the sources) by situating it within a broader context.
3. Making effective rhetorical choices that consistently strengthen the force and impact of the student’s argument throughout the response.
4. Employing a style that is consistently vivid and persuasive.

Additional Notes:
- This point should be awarded only if the sophistication of thought or complex understanding is part of the student’s argument, not merely a phrase or reference.
Rhetorical Analysis

On February 27, 2013, while in office, former president Barack Obama delivered the following address dedicating the Rosa Parks statue in the National Statuary Hall of the United States Capitol building. Rosa Parks was an African American civil rights activist who was arrested in 1955 for refusing to give up her seat on a segregated bus in Montgomery, Alabama. Read the passage carefully. Write an essay that analyzes the rhetorical choices Obama makes to convey his message.

In your response you should do the following:

• Respond to the prompt with a thesis that analyzes the writer’s rhetorical choices.
• Select and use evidence to support your line of reasoning.
• Explain how the evidence supports your line of reasoning.
• Demonstrate an understanding of the rhetorical situation.
• Use appropriate grammar and punctuation in communicating your argument.

| Examples that earn this point:
Present a defensible thesis that analyzes the writer’s rhetorical choices
- “Obama uses sympathetic diction, historical references, and quotes from the Bible to convey his message about Rosa Parks.”
- “In his 2013 speech honoring Rosa Parks, Obama used narrative, descriptive language, and Biblical allusions to convey his admiration for the civil rights activist.”
- “President Obama relies on the audience’s familiarity with the story of Rosa Parks’ refusal to give up her bus seat, using that well-known image of her to call on his audience to ‘carry forward the power of her principle’ as the best way to honor her legacy.”

| Make a claim, but do not address the writer’s rhetorical choices
- “On the unveiling of a new statue of Rosa Parks, President Obama gave an eloquent speech honoring Parks’ life and activism.”

| Repeat provided information from the passage
- “In his speech, President Obama praised Rosa Parks for her actions, which led to three hundred and eight-five days of the Montgomery Bus Boycott that successfully ended segregation on public transportation.”

Decision Rules and Scoring Notes

Typical responses that earn 0 points:
- Are incoherent or do not address the prompt.
- May be just opinion with no textual references or references that are irrelevant.

Typical responses that earn 1 point:
- Tend to focus on summary or description of a passage rather than specific details or techniques.
- Mention rhetorical choices with little or no explanation.

Typical responses that earn 2 points:
- Consist of a mix of specific evidence and broad generalities.
- May contain some simplistic, inaccurate, or repetitive explanations that don’t strengthen the argument.
- May make one point well but either do not make multiple supporting claims or do not adequately support more than one claim.
- Do not explain the connections or progression between the student’s claims, so a line of reasoning is not clearly established.

Typical responses that earn 3 points:
- Uniformly offer evidence to support claims.
- Focus on the importance of specific words and details from the passage to build an argument.
- Organize an argument as a line of reasoning composed of multiple supporting claims.
- Commentary may fail to integrate some evidence or fail to support a key claim.

Typical responses that earn 4 points:
- Uniformly offer evidence to support claims.
- Focus on the importance of specific words and details from the passage to build an argument.
- Organize and support an argument as a line of reasoning composed of multiple supporting claims, each with adequate evidence that is clearly explained.
- Explain how the writer’s use of rhetorical choices contributes to the student’s interpretation of the passage.

Additional Notes:
- Writing that suffers from grammatical and/or mechanical errors that interfere with communication cannot earn the fourth point in this row.
- To earn the fourth point in this row, the response may observe multiple instances of the same rhetorical choice if each instance further contributes to the argument, purpose, or message of the passage.

Decision Rules and Scoring Notes

Responses that do not earn this point:
- Attempt to contextualize the text, but such attempts consist predominantly of sweeping generalizations ("In a world where..." OR "Since the beginning of time...").
- Only hint at or suggest other arguments ("While some may argue that..." OR "Some people say... ").
- Examine individual rhetorical choices but do not examine the relationships among different choices throughout the text.
- Oversimplify complexities in the text.
- Use complicated or complex sentences or language that is ineffective because it does not enhance their analysis.

Responses that earn this point may demonstrate sophistication of thought and/or a complex understanding of the rhetorical situation by doing any of the following:
1. Explaining the significance or relevance of the writer’s rhetorical choices (given the rhetorical situation).
2. Explaining a purpose or function of the passage’s complexities or tensions.
3. Employing a style that is consistently vivid and persuasive.

Additional Notes:
- This point should be awarded only if the sophistication of thought or complex understanding is part of the argument, not merely a phrase or reference.
Many people spend long hours trying to achieve perfection in their personal or professional lives. Similarly, people often demand perfection from others, creating expectations that may be challenging to live up to. In contrast, some people think perfection is not attainable or desirable.

Write an essay that argues your position on the value of striving for perfection.

In your response you should do the following:

• Respond to the prompt with a thesis that presents a defensible position.
• Provide evidence to support your line of reasoning.
• Explain how the evidence supports your line of reasoning.
• Use appropriate grammar and punctuation in communicating your argument.

Responses that do not earn this point:

- Only restate the prompt.
- Do not take a position, or the position is vague or must be inferred.
- State an obvious fact rather than making a claim that requires a defense.

Examples that do not earn this point:

Do not take a position

- “In this world, there are those who won’t be satisfied unless everything is perfect, and those who are perfectly happy to let things be as they are.”

Address the topic of the prompt but are not defensible—it is an obvious fact stated as a claim

- “Perfection is something that many people strive for, but very few actually achieve.”

Responses that earn this point:

Present a defensible position that responds to the prompt.

- “Perfection is something that is almost impossible to reach, so it’s not worth the effort to try to achieve it.”
- “While the outcome may not always be successful, the struggle to achieve perfection can yield many benefits along the way.”
- “Although it may be fine to set high standards and expect perfection from yourself, it’s unrealistic to believe that other people will be willing to put in what it takes to reach the same levels of perfection.”

Additional Notes:

- The thesis may be more than one sentence, provided the sentences are in close proximity.
